

Neurocoverage Can Help You Build Your Program!

Problem:

- Larger and more comprehensive hospitals, especially those affiliated with academic medical centers, are more likely to offer a wide range of specialized services, including neurological care. However, smaller community hospitals or clinics may not have the resources or expertise to provide extensive neurological services.
- Timing is critical in Stroke care. Hospitals without adequate Neurology services must transfer the patient to a larger facility. This added time can cause increased morbidity or mortality. Patient care is lessened in communities without proper neurological care.
